Nagykanizsa www.nagykanizsa.hu

The city is committed to environmental education which is highlighted in the educational programs of its institutions, from kindergartens to high schools. The everyday work is successfully supported by the LENA project, in which the city is a project partner.

Magyar Környezeti Nevelési Egyesület

For 20 years MKNE has been propagating environmental education methods inside the classroom and outdoors, both in leisure time and for families. The LENA project is a very important professionalizing contribution to the full realisation of all environmental education tasks.

"Nature is the biotope of the senses. The variety and splendour of the species on earth offers a wide-ranging field to sensitize our perception.

All the manifestations and phenomena in nature, like the whirls in water, the glimmer of coloured autumn leaves in the woods, the sparkling of ice crystals are sensuous feasts for the eyes ... and stimulations for reflecting over the essence and the effectiveness of nature.

The awareness of the fundamental and organic mechanisms in nature creates insights for our daily life. Nature as a 'biotope of learning', the central idea of our EU-project 'Lernraum Natur', is infinite ... and an inexhaustible source for kids' research."

"The idea of a common Europe of nations has always been essential and important to me. I am convinced that especially the vivid dialogue among the young about ecological & social questions and the prospect to experience personally the meaning of solidarity is very important for the future of Europe.

I am looking forward to the next YES! events in Vienna and I wish all participating students and teachers interesting and exciting days in the Donau-Auen National Park. Good luck for your YES! Initiative!"

DanubeTeensCamp 2014

May 19th - 23rd, 2014 NationalparkCampLobau, Vienna

We welcome 80 young people, aged 13-17, from Vienna and the Westhungarian counties who are interested in exploring nature, making friends and enjoying camping, bonfire and moonlight!

You are invited to experience an exciting way of getting familiar with ecological, social and cultural topics of the EU and to express yourself in a creative way in the green & romantic ambience of our camp-site.

The 7th DanubeTeensCamp 2014 in the NationalparkCampLobau presents a rich variety of sustainable experiences for the young guests while camping close to the Donau-Auen National Park ... by experiencing intercultural dialogue about environmental protection, by participating in creative team work and by exchanging great ideas and visions!

The river Danube is our leitmotif to deal with the current topics 'biodiversity & nature protection', 'water & sustainability' and to explore the wilderness of the Donau-Auen National Park!

The green ambience and modern facilities in our NationalparkCampLobau will set the stage for living 'Young European Solidarity' with good vibrations!

An English speaking team of experienced outdoor pedagogues prepares a thrilling program with nature and creative experiences.

To seize these great opportunities ... each young guest should be curious and open-minded, able to communicate in English and have basic interest on current ecological, social and cultural issues of the EU.

Full board is provided for free for 8 delegations from Vienna and the west transdanubian counties with nine students, aged 13-17, and a teacher each. So all participants have only to bring along their tent, a sleeping bag ... and high motivation and spirits!
